

Broadband service needs to be regulated. IF you deregulate broadband, the large companies like Bell South or SBC will then take the advantage and raise the cost of broadband to the home user like myself by wiping out the small ISP who creates competition in the marketplace. It also destroys the concept of free enterprise for the small business which America is built on. IF you allow the phone companies to become monopolies again, you are doing all of us home users a big disservice by eliminating the competition so the big companies can monopolize broadband and remove our freedom to choose.
